

the choices of being pdf

Choice is the outcome of a process which involves assessment and judgement; that is, the evaluation of different options and making a decision about which option to choose.

Understanding the dynamics of decision-making and choice

The individual has as much control as possible over the choices they make. For example, the individual is supported to try to use the walking frame. The care plan, or care and support plan, is 'needs' led not 'service' led.
